End of Life Nursing Education Consortium (ELNEC) - Geriatric
Train-the-Trainer Course
January 18-19, 2013
Johns Hopkins University School of Nursing
525 North Wolfe Street
Baltimore, MD 21205
Carpenter Room, 1st floor

Overview
End-of-life Nursing Education Consortium (ELNEC) - Geriatric course—a component of a national palliative care initiative to improve end of life care—offers a unique learning experience and an opportunity to network with other professionals dedicated to improving care for older adults at the end of life. Through a curriculum developed, reviewed, and regularly revised by recognized experts, participants receive a wealth of resources and strategies that will allow them to replicate the learning experiences in their own care environments.

What You Will Receive
Participants—healthcare professionals, including nurses, nurse educators, and social workers—receive essential training in end-of-life/palliative care for older adults from a renowned faculty.
Course materials include:
- Comprehensive 1,000+ page syllabus
- Hard copy and flash drive teaching materials, resources, and strategies for replicating the course for others
- 12.7 Continuing Education credits for nurses

Who Should Attend
Nurses, social workers, nursing assistants and others who want to enhance their knowledge and teaching skills about providing expert, compassionate care to older adults at the end of life.

Registration, Tuition, and Fees
Complete registration information, tuition, and fees can be found at www.ijhn.jhmi.edu/elnec. Tuition is $199 for two days, which includes all course materials, 12 credit hours, breakfast, and lunch. Registration is open until December 18, 2012 and includes an online application process. Space is limited and early registration is encouraged.

Cancellation Policies
The Institute reserves the right to cancel a course due to low enrollments, in which event the enrollment fees for the course(s) will be refunded. If a course is canceled, the applicant is notified immediately and a full refund will be processed unless another course is requested.

Tuition Refund Policies
Refunds, less a $50 processing fee, are provided to participants who cancel at least 30 days prior to a program offering. Requests to cancel received less than 30 days prior to a program will be offered registration in a substitute program, less a processing fee.

Hotel Accommodations
Tuition does not cover the cost of accommodations. Several hotels in the area offer complimentary shuttle services or transportation vouchers to Johns Hopkins. Information about housing accommodations can be found at www.ijhn.jhmi.edu/elnec.
