

Faculty Student Recruitment Events Academic Year 2017-2018

Faculty are asked to participate in all recruitment events if possible and a minimum of three per year.

Students come to Johns Hopkins School of Nursing to learn from and work with us as faculty. A one-on-one meeting with student applicants is an inspiration for both the applicant and faculty member. What an honor it is to talk to an individual considering entering the nursing profession for the first time or to a nurse seeking to be prepared for a transformational leadership role in one of our doctoral programs!
