What is NFLP?

The Nurse Faculty Loan Program (NFLP) is a loan forgiveness program that prepares and trains qualified nurse educators to fill faculty vacancies and increase the number of trained nurses entering the workforce. In exchange for employment as a nurse faculty following graduation, the program authorizes cancelation of up to 85% of the loan.

Qualified Academic Programs

Students must be enrolled in one of the following programs to apply for NFLP funding:

- DNP Executive
- DNP Advanced Practice
- DNP/PhD
- PhD

Student Qualifications

To qualify for NFLP, students must meet the following criteria:

1. Be a U.S. citizen or national of the U.S., or a lawful permanent resident of the US and its territories.
2. Be enrolled full-time or part-time in a Master's or Doctoral advanced nursing education program.
3. Maintain good academic standing as defined by the lending institution.
4. Have no judgment liens entered against him/her based on the default on a federal debt, 28 U.S.C. 3201(e).

Financial Information

The maximum amount of funding a student can receive is up to $35,500 per year. A student can also be funded for up to 5 years. However, there is limited funding so students are not guaranteed NFLP funding in any specific amount or for any number of years. Students need to reapply for funding each year.

NFLP Grant Recipient Requirements

All recipients of the NFLP grant are required to complete the following actions:

- Enroll in one NECO course
- Meet with assigned NFLP faculty mentor
- Attend annual teaching workshop
- Meet with Career Services Office
- Provide information as requested

NECO Course Options

NR.110.540 Teaching Strategies in Nursing

The principles underlying the teaching of adult learners will be examined and applied to classroom and clinical settings. Emphasis is on application of practical strategies to plan, conduct, and evaluate educational experiences in nursing. Innovative teaching techniques, use of media, evaluation techniques, and test construction/evaluation are addressed. Prerequisite: Baccalaureate degree, some post-Baccalaureate nursing experience

NR.110.641 Online Teaching and Learning: Development and Instruction

The purpose of this course is to provide the learner with necessary knowledge and tools to develop and teach in an online course platform. Key design features when developing an online course will be examined in addition to the best practices and evidence-based benchmarks for online teaching and learning. Teaching strategies and guidelines for the educator to use in his/her own instructional setting will be reviewed.

NR.110.638 Curriculum Theory & Design

This course focuses on the underlying philosophical and theoretical foundations that inform academic curriculum design and practice. The underlying competing philosophical and practical perspectives of curriculum design are full of contradictions, challenges, uncertainties and directions. Course participants will critically analyze these frameworks and perspectives as background for critiquing and designing academic nursing curricula and courses. This course is about what we teach, why we teach, who we teach, how we teach, and the ever-changing context in which we teach. Attempts to "revolutionize" nursing curricula in the 1990's did not happen. Course participants will be challenged to think critically about ways to transform and revitalize nursing curricula.

NECO Course Options

NR.110.730 Evaluation: From Individual to Program

The principles guiding evaluation in nursing academia will be examined. Emphasis will be placed on the role of administrators, faculty, students and communities of interest in the evaluation process. Methods, techniques, and strategies used to conduct assessment of individual student performance in a variety of settings and evaluation of overall program effectiveness will be analyzed. Aspects of faculty evaluation will also be explored, as they relate to appointment, promotion, and tenure. Accreditation standards from the Commission on Collegiate Education in Nursing, the National League for Nursing Accreditation Commission, and selected nursing specialty organizations will be discussed.

NR.110.543 Teaching Practicum

This course will give students an opportunity to apply concepts of teaching strategies, curriculum theory and design and evaluation in the educator role that is within their area of interest. The student can choose from a variety of opportunities.
Pre/corequisites: NR.110.638, 110.540, 110.730, or permission of faculty/advisor

What If?

What if I decide not to teach?

What if I can't find a job after graduation?

What if I teach for 1, 2, or 3 year(s) and then do something else?

If verified service commitment is not upheld, at that point, the full loan balance must be repaid and the interest will be at the prevailing market rate.

The prevailing market rate, which is determined by the Secretary of the Treasury Department, is fixed and published quarterly in the Federal Register. As of June 30, 2020 the current prevailing market rate is 9.5%. The current rate of 9 1/12%.
